

Dr. Burgess Weekly Video Address February 5, 2016
“Iran Continues to Prove Untrustworthy”

Hello this is your Congressman, Michael Burgess.

It has been proven time and again that President Barack Obama has failed to ensure a strong national defense since he took the oath of office in January 2009.

He continues to make careless and thoughtless decisions that endanger the national security of the United States and its citizens both home and abroad.

Iran’s Ayatollah awarded “medals of conquest” to five Iranian commanders who arrested 10 U.S. sailors that drifted into Iranian waters on the day that the President proclaimed the state of the union was strong.

As if this isn’t sickening enough—Iranian officials continue to boast about this exercise of power over the American sailors. Top Iranian officials are quoted saying that Americans “humbly admitted the Iranians might and power.”

This is the same Iran on which President Obama just lifted billions of dollars of sanctions.

As an American, I am appalled that President Obama and Secretary Kerry have run to Iran’s defense instead of standing behind our service members. They pathetically continue to try and convince Americans that the release of the U.S. sailors is a testament to success of the Iran Agreement. No one is buying that.

Iran has also continued testing ballistic missiles, in blatant defiance of the generous agreement that the Obama Administration gifted to this state-sponsor of terror.

The Iranian regime will continue such violations, because it knows that the Obama Administration will only continue to turn a blind eye—but this shouldn't come as a surprise to anyone.

As your representative in Congress, I am dedicated to strengthening our national security and ensuring a safer America for generations to come.

As always, I appreciate your comments and questions on this issue.

May God bless you and your family, and as always, may God bless Texas.
